

I think BPL Systems will cause major interference to amateur radio, broadcast AM/FM and possible TV. I live in a remote area. I don't want to pay for all the information that is available on the HF/VHF radio frequencys. As far as the internet is concerned I think the FCC needs to spend their time and our money regulating those crooks. If they can they will use our wires, our radio frequencys, our water pipes and still make us pay them three times for it. Big business is king in Washington now. I wonder if John Kerry or 60 minutes could make this a news item for discussion.
